

What is it?

We offer our adopters family and friends a training session, to provide help and tips on how they can support their loved ones during the transition period to becoming parents. The session lasts for approximately 2 hours and can be viewed via a pre-recorded session or a live virtual session. From 2024 we will also be holding face to face sessions in Doncaster. On completion of our basic training, family and friends are invited to complete our therapeutic training video session. This hour long video explores therapeutic parenting skills of PACE and Theraplay, that all our adopters learn in their assessment.

What is involved?

The group is an informal setting for family and friends who don't know much about adoption but welcome education about the sensitive language, the understanding of attachment and helping a child to adjust to their new family.

Why do we do it?

The content of our family and friends sessions are based on what experienced adopters 'wish they had said' before the arrival of their child/children.

FAMILY FEEDBACK

"Very informative and friendly, all things covered"

"It was useful so that I know what to expect when a child comes into our family"

"I definitely have a better understanding of supporting my friends with their adoption after this training. There were good points raised that I hadn't previously considered. I can definitely be more supportive now and more aware of the child's needs. It was good to know that the family will need space for a few weeks at the beginning so as not to overwhelm the child."
